Christian School Teachers' Convention—Last Thursday and Friday at Redeemer University College

Last week Thursday and Friday over 700 Christian school educators from across Ontario attended the annual Christian school teachers' convention at Redeemer University College in Ancaster. The theme for this year was 'Purpose, Power and Potential' with the convention theme song called 'Build Your Kingdom Here.' The keynote speakers for this year were Andy Crouch, speaking on his latest book 'Playing God: Redeeming the Gift of Power.' The other Keynote speakers were Karen Swallow Prior and Noah Toly.

The TCS staff learned a lot over the two days of workshops and speakers as it challenged us and stretched us in new directions on how to teach Christianly. Special thanks to our very own Tina Covert who was the chair of the convention planning committee this year and to Tamara Wright who presented a workshop at the convention on "Service Learning to Curriculum." Also thank you to Wilma Person and the staff team who made the decorations for the stage at the convention that the TCS staff was responsible for.
